Boy, 15, Kills Teacher, Wounds Two Others In School Shooting

SEAT PLEASANT, Md. (AP)—Reprimanded for failing to turn in a written assignment, a 15-year-old boy killed one teacher by rifle fire Friday and wounded two others in a junior high school. Police Chief George J. Panagoulis said the boy, Billy Ray Prevatte, who was expelled from a Raleigh, N.C., school two months ago for threatening a teacher's life, was gunning for the principal when he fired on the three teachers. The principle was not harmed. Victims of the shooting, which threw the Maryland Park Junior High School on the outskirts of Washington, D.C., into an uproar, were: Frazer Cameron, 32, bachelor teacher whose bags were packed for a weekend visit with his mother when he was killed. Francis Daniel Wagner, 25, the school athletic coach, seriously wounded in the chest. Robert Hicks, 31, shot in the hand while trying to subdue the boy. Chief Panagoulis said the Prevatte boy was looking for the principal, John Hrezo, when he started shooting. The school was cleared of students and closed for the remainder of the day. Many of the students went home crying from fright. Detective Sgt. Richard A. Pearson reconstructed the events this way: Shortly before noon young Prevatte, an eighth grader, was sent to the principal's office by William Cookson, another coach, to explain his failure to turn in a written assignment in physical education due Thursday. The boy went to Hrezo's office and was told to wait. After a while he left, slamming the door behind him. Returning in an automobile, he crashed the car into a fence outside the school and fired several volleys at workmen who had seen the crash and had come running in the belief he might need aid.

Vet Officer Sees VA Hospital Here Transferred To Air Force

The "strong impression" of the national commander of the Disabled American Veterans that the Lincoln Veterans Hospital will be turned over to the Air Force was voiced Friday in Lincoln.

Maj. Gen. Melvin J. Maas, USMCR (retired), in Lincoln for the state DAV convention, said he didn't think the transfer would take place for at least a few months. But unless "strong pressures" are brought to bear he said he feels the hospital will be transferred to the Air Force.

Gen. Maas, who lost his sight as a result of a World War II injury, said he thought the Budget Bureau, not the Air Force, was pushing for the transfer. He said he doesn't know if a final decision has been reached.

Gen. Maas, a former Minnesota congressman, now lives in Chevy Chase, Md. He lived in Lincoln for two months in 1920 while working for an insurance firm. Enlisting in World War I as a private, he received a commission shortly after that war ended.

The general spoke at a DAV banquet Friday night. More than 200 DAV members from throughout Nebraska were expected to attend the eighth annual convention. Business sessions and a dance were on Saturday's agenda.

Sunday, committee reports and election of officers were scheduled. Walter R. Schultz of Hastings is the state commander of the DAV. Convention chairman is Loran Cottrell of Lincoln.

The DAV's auxiliary is meeting in conjunction with the men's organization. Business sessions and committee reports were on Saturday's agenda with final business sessions and election of officers scheduled Sunday. Mrs. Eva Scott of Omaha is auxiliary commander.

18 Aboard 2 Downed Seaplanes ... One Ship In Tow

HONOLULU (INS) — One of two downed Navy Marlin seaplanes wallowed helplessly in the sea off Hawaii late Friday while the second was taken in tow by a Coast Guard cutter.

The aircraft carrier Wasp was speeding to the rescue of the first plane about 100 miles east of Hilo. Both planes, part of a squadron of 10 flying from San Diego, Calif., to Pearl Harbor, made forced landings earlier Friday when they ran out of fuel.

There were nine men on each plane, but no injuries were reported.

A Marlin was taken in tow by the Coast Guard cutter 35 miles east of Hilo, according to a Navy announcement.

Taxi Attempt
The other, piloted by Lt. (jg) David L. Garlow, landed farther off shore. It was sighted by a rescue plane after making 20 miles in an attempt to taxi to Hilo. The rescue plane pilot said the downed aircraft was "in good shape."

A Navy spokesman said the plane taken in tow "hit pretty hard" but was okay. He said the pilot wrenched his back in landing.

Five planes of the squadron made it safely to the Navy seaplane base on Ford Island in Pearl Harbor, another landed safely at Hilo and the other two returned to San Diego.

The Navy said the flight encountered strong head winds on the 14-hour flight from San Diego.

All Hope Gone

Attacker Of N. Y. Columnist Is Still Sought

By ARTHUR W. EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP)—The sulphuric acid assault one month ago on labor Columnist Victor Riesel has cost him the sight of both eyes. He is condemned to a life of darkness.

"There is no hope at all now that Victor Riesel will ever see again," said an announcement Friday from Robert M. Hall, president of the syndicate that distributes Riesel's newspaper column nationally.

A medical report said sulphuric acid hurled by an unidentified thug had destroyed the tissues of the eyes. Riesel was set upon as he left a Broadway restaurant April 5 a few hours after he made a radio attack on a labor union racketeer.

News Is Broken

The columnist blamed the attack on his newspaper and radio crusades. An associate said the news of his blindness was broken to Riesel gradually Thursday night and Friday.

"He took it beautifully—like a major," this source said. However, he added, friends fear a later reaction of depression may set in.

Since the sulphuric acid seared his eyes and face, top eye doctors have been striving to save Riesel's sight. But from the outset, their statements have been guardedly pessimistic.

Hall, in his announcement, said Riesel's column will be continued. He called the acid attack a crime worse than murder.

No Warning
Riesel was attacked without a word of warning as he left Lindy's restaurant at Broadway and 51st St. about 3 a.m. With him at the time was Betty Nevins, a blonde who assists him in his newspaper and radio work. She was not harmed.

Riesel, 41, built up a national reputation in 10 years of labor reporting. The Hall Syndicate distributes his column to the New York Daily Mirror and 192 other newspapers across the nation.

Nearly $40,000 in rewards have failed to evoke any clue to the identity of the acid hurler.

Blasts Stop Salt Lake Rail Trestle Blaze

OGDEN, Utah (INS) — A stubborn blaze fanned by 45 mile per hour winds destroyed 700 feet of Southern Pacific Railroad's wooden trestle over Great Salt Lake Friday before three dynamite charges isolated the fire.

Wind whipped flames leaped the gap broken by the first two charges and the fire continued its eastward advance across the colorful 12-mile Lucin Cutoff before it was halted by the third charge.

J. W. Corbett, vice president of operations, directed fire-fighting work. More than 100 men using forest service and construction pumps battled the blaze on the east end while other crews on the trestle and in launches fought the flames on the west.

Re-Routed
The fire disrupted Southern Pacific's cross country rail service, with trains being re-routed on Western Pacific tracks around the south shore of the lake into Salt Lake City. Overland Limited service was canceled through Sunday.

Company spokesmen said repair trains were ready to go as soon as all the flames had been quelled, but there was no estimate on when service would be resumed.

JOHN GRAHAM ... found guilty in plane blast that killed 44.

Graham Guilty Of Murder

Jury Asks Death For Airliner Saboteur

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

DENVER (INS) — Boyish-looking John Gilbert Graham was found guilty by a jury late Friday night of the murder of his mother in the dynamiting of a plane which cost 44 lives, and his penalty was fixed at death.

The jury of seven men and five women reached their verdict after deliberating for one hour and 24 minutes.

Tears welled in Graham's eyes when the verdict was announced. He quickly brushed them away. He had maintained a poker-faced demeanor throughout the trial. It was the first sign of emotion he had shown.

The verdict, it was learned, was reached on the first ballot.

The jurors told the bailiff at 12:10 a.m. CST that they had reached a verdict.

Judge Joseph M. McDonald was immediately notified. Silent fell across the courtroom as the jury solemnly filed into the box. Two minutes later Judge McDonald ascended the bench.

"Have you reached a verdict?" asked Judge McDonald.

"We Have"

The foreman of the jury, Ralph W. Bonar, a film company executive, arose and said "we have." He handed it to a bailiff who passed it up to the judge.

Judge McDonald read the verdict aloud: "We, the jury, find the defendant John Gilbert Graham guilty of murder of the first degree, and find he acted with premeditation, and a specific intent to take life as charged in the information herein, and fix the penalty at death."

That meant that the 24-year-old defendant must die in the gas chamber in the state penitentiary at Canon City unless he is saved by an appeal.

Young Graham wearing a crew hair cut, and neatly attired in a grey suit, nervously rubbed his hands across his eyes and brushed away tears.

Appeal Motion
Up to the moment the verdict of "guilty" was announced he had been sitting rather sullenly at defense counsel table.

Defense Attorney Charles Vigil Rose and requested the court to allow him ten days to prepare a motion appealing the verdict.

Parker Jury Was Split 10-2 During Most Of 20 Hours Of Deliberations

... Three Voted For Acquittal On First 2 Ballots

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Darrel F. Parker murder jury battled over a 10-2 split during most of its 20 hours of deliberation before it delivered a guilty verdict of first-degree murder. The Star reliably learned Friday.

Three jurors stood for acquittal on the first two ballots. The third ballot produced the 10-2 split which carried out to the final, the 12th, ballot.

The death penalty was ruled out in the early balloting. The unpromising deliberation for seven ballots was on conviction or acquittal of Parker on the murder degree as charged.

Although six jury members refused to comment on the Star's report, one jury member, who apparently agreed with the 10-2 split, said, "It was guilty or not guilty for the first six or so ballots, then we debated over the degree of penalty."

Two jurors said they did not rule out the possibility of the death penalty, but one said "it was not on the ballot."

Two jury members could not be reached for comment.

The 24-year-old ex-city forester was found guilty at 5:21 p.m. Thursday of first-degree murder in the Dec. 14 strangulation slaying of his 22-year-old wife, Nancy, last Dec. 14.

Tension, Fatigue Showed

The seven men and five women jurors were grim-faced as they filed into the courtroom for the verdict's reading by the court clerk. The tension and fatigue of the 20½ battle over three days were on their faces.

Pressed by newsmen, Foreman George Walters, who served on at least one previous jury, and the other jurors had no comment except that 11 ballots were taken before the final one. Some said they had bound themselves to a secrecy pact.

Newsmen, who kept the courtroom vigil during the verdict wait, noticed a change in the usual chatter and cheerfulness of the jurors as they went to lunch Thursday noon—the last meal before the verdict.

Apparently, the intensity of the jury deliberations reached the high point during the afternoon.

The significance of the jury's requests for the testimony of two state witnesses and for further instructions on the degrees of guilt was not learned.

The prosecution, in closing arguments, contended that Parker was guilty as charged of the crime, related in his confession, "beyond a reasonable doubt."

Will Appeal Case

The defense, which contended Parker did not kill his wife, but gave a "false confession," said a motion for a new trial would be filed early next week. An appeal will be taken to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary, according to a defense attorney, Kenneth Cook.

Lancaster County Attorney Elmer Scheele, who successfully prosecuted his first murder case, told newsmen after the trial:

"I consider that it was a just and proper verdict. It has been a difficult case for the jurors because of the large amount of highly technical medical and scientific testimony. The results confirm my faith in our jury system."

Defense attorney Max Towle said he was disappointed in the jury's verdict and Cook, the Parker family lawyer, commented that the verdict hadn't changed the family's or his feelings in the least. "We still think he's innocent," he added.

MURDER HOME CLEARED; YULE WREATH REMAINS

The furniture and household goods belonging to Darrel and the late Nancy Parker were being moved Friday from the city-owned forester's home in Antelope Park.

The items were being stored with a Lincoln firm until arrangements could be made by the two families for their disposal.

Nancy's personal belongings were turned over to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morrison Jr., of Des Moines, Ia.

The 3200 Summer residence had remained locked under police supervision since Dec. 14 until the trial's end.

Even the Yuletide wreath, a reminder of the tragic death 11 days before Christmas, remained on the door until Friday.

Park Department Supt. Jim Ager said the city-owned house "is being readied for future occupancy, but plans are not definite as yet."

Showers To Spread Over Area

Showers and thunderstorms that spread over the southeast portion of the state Friday were to move to the east and south central areas Saturday, according to Weather Bureau reports.

Rain was also scheduled for the remainder of the state with showers in the extreme east, central and extreme southeast sections of Nebraska Saturday night.

The Crete and Wilber areas received the largest amount of precipitation Friday. Crete recorded .60 inch of rain and .80 inch was reported several miles west of Crete.

Wilber received .16 inch and an area three miles east of Wilber reported .40 inch.

Warmer temperatures in the extreme southeast portion was to result Saturday in a high of 70. Cooler temperatures were to bring a high of 50 in the northwest.

Highs Friday ranged from 54 at Scottsbluff to 43 at Imperial. Lincoln's high was 46, with a low of 43.

DULLES OFFERS: 10-Year NATO Plan

Policy To Counter
Kremlin's Softer
Tactics Asked

PARIS (U.P.) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Friday called on the free world to marshal its vast moral and material resources in a new 10-year program for holding back communism.

Dulles told his 14 fellow foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the West has checked Russia's advance at this juncture in world history.

But Dulles declared that the Atlantic community now must map out a program for the next decade to counter the Kremlin's new soft tactics and win over to freedom the uncommitted peoples of Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

He said that in the free world stands firm, it could foster an embryonic trend toward liberation now discernible in the Soviet Union.

Might Shift
Dulles warned that if Russia's trade-and-aid offensive in the underdeveloped countries succeeds then the ratio of peoples under Communist rule might shift from the minority to the majority.

Dulles proposed creation of a committee of two or three Atlantic Pact ministers to work out practical ways for strengthening NATO in the political and economic fields. This committee would report back in the fall to the Ministerial Council.

Diplomatic informants said Dulles indicated previously some willingness to serve on the top-level study committee.

Dulles spoke twice to the opening day meeting of the Atlantic Council which is urgently considering ways to step up NATO and meet the twitch in Soviet tactics.

World Agency
Summaries of Dulles' speeches before the closed sessions were made available to reporters. Texts were not released.

France's Foreign Minister, Christian Pineau laid before the Council a plan for creating a new world economic development agency. It would operate within the framework of the U.N. and help underprivileged countries.

The agency would make out-right grants, five long and short term loans and buy surplus production of needy countries.

Police Seek Driver Of Injury Auto

Police were seeking Friday the identification of a driver who left the scene after his car struck a boy at 17th and D Sts.

The injured boy, Willis H. Rentner, 9, of 1216 So. 17th St., was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for bruises and abrasions.

According to Bill Johnston, motorcycle officer, the driver reportedly stopped after striking the boy, asked if he was hurt, and drove on when the boy said he wasn't.

Police said they wanted the identity of the driver in order to make out a report of the accident. Johnston said the boy was walking from the north to the south in the crosswalk when struck by the car. The boy later was released.

During 50 years in the newspaper business McCoy published papers at Orleans, Dunning, Ulysses, Randolph, Chester and Cedar Bluffs.

Airman Accident Victim Reported Improved Little

Lincoln Airman John R. Frankovich remained in serious but improved condition Friday. He was one of four airmen most seriously injured Thursday night in a one-car accident near the West O Lincoln Air Base cutoff.

The others, all from the 343rd Bomber Squadron, included driver of the car, Edward Trettina Jr., 21, in fairly good condition; Gilbert Lovato, 18, in fair condition, and Paul Kalous, 22, also in fair condition.

The airmen are hospitalized at St. Elizabeth's.

Touching Capitol Ceremony Names Mrs. Garcia As 'Mother Of Year'

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

One of the most touching ceremonies in the history of the Nebraska State Mothers' awards occurred in the governor's chamber Friday when Mrs. Carmen Garcia of Scottsbluff was named State Mother of 1956.

Tears flowed from her eyes as she completely broke down when her son, on behalf of all the children, pinned to her a gold pin signifying that she is State Mother.

Mrs. Garcia later explained that the tears were "tears of joy" over the success of her children and the fact that the United States proved really the land of opportunity that her father had promised when they left Mexico.

"I had a very cooperative family," she said. "They did what I told them to do and that is the reason I feel that I am the State Mother of 1956."

"I feel very humble," she continued. "I never dreamed that I would be here in the Capitol, beside the governor and the outstanding people of the state. But, this is America. This is democracy. All of us have the opportunity to climb the ladder to the 'Nth' degree in this country of ours."

Mrs. Ralph Hill, chairman of the state mothers' committee, related Mrs. Garcia's childhood plans changed when she met her husband.

then a seminary student, in Los Angeles where both were in school. They moved to Lincoln where Mrs. Garcia completed her own high school training after marriage. She obtained her bachelor's degree in education from the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

After working for a time as a teacher, she was employed by the Lincoln Teachers' College where she is also working for her master's degree in education.

Mrs. Hill said the award was proof that we must learn that "minority groups are all the time Americans."

Dr. John Garcia, Sidney, one of her four out of five children present and three adopted children of a relative, presented the pin. Four of her family are college graduates and two more are completing their college courses this spring. One son is in high school at Scottsbluff and was unable to attend.

Other Garcia children present were Janice, who is studying physiotherapy at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.; Laura, who graduates from the University of Nebraska next month; two adopted daughters, Olga Arriaga, Nebraska University graduate now teaching in the Pueblo, Colo. schools and Margaret Robinson, teacher in the Lincoln schools.

Others are Earl, 17, student at home; Mrs. Eva Ruth Vance, also a University graduate, now teaching at Bernice, Calif.; and an adopted daughter, Geneva Medina of Denver.

Gov. Victor Anderson presented Mrs. Garcia with the certificate remarking, "Everybody has a chance in this country no matter how humble a beginning they may have."

The husband, Rev. E. V. Garcia, quietly sat on the sidelines but smiled his pride in his wife. Five former state mothers attended the presentation. They were Mrs. M. E. Crosby, North Platte, 1955; Mrs. A. B. Newell, Grand Island, 1954; Mrs. Walter Kiechel, Tecumseh, 1950; Mrs. Herbert Brownell, Lincoln, 1949; and Mrs. Robert Simmons, Lincoln, 1948.

In the afternoon a reception and tea was held in the reception room at First Baptist Church for the mother by her many friends in Lincoln.

Prehistoric Man Discovered In Oregon By Dr. Cressman

... Revealed At NU Meeting

A report by Professor Luther S. Cressman of the University of Oregon Friday at the Society for American Archeology meeting at the University of Nebraska was confirmed late Friday afternoon by Yale University that prehistoric man lived in Oregon as early as 8,000 years ago.

Archeological specimens from Oregon were tested at Yale by the atomic calendar to confirm Dr. Cressman's findings.

Dr. Cressman had made the announcement in Lincoln during the afternoon session, but last-minute scientific tests results were only released late Friday afternoon. The discovery was considered to be a major find.

Cressman directed excavations at the Five Mile Rapids on Oregon's Columbia River, which yielded fossils and charcoal. Edward Deevey of Yale tested the materials for radioactive carbon which is science's newest yardstick for fixing dates. The radioactive carbon forms in all decaying matter, it was explained.

Beginning with an Indian grave, dating back a mere 135 years, Cressman probed into the archeological site finding fossils and such artifacts as a polished antler tip which had been used for cutting; the base of a harpoon prong, and a flint knife, shaped by percussion flaking, a process dating back a million years.

Some of these were in stratum which the atomic calendar showed to be 6,000 years old. Others were found at the 7,500-year strata, still others further down, at about the 8,000-year level.

At its annual meeting on the NU campus Dr. William A. Ritchie, director of the New York State Museum at Albany was elected president of the society.

Other officers are: first vice president, Dr. William H. Sears of the Florida State Museum at Gainesville; second vice president, Dr. Erik K. Reed of the National

Jet Takes Off Using U.S. 30 As Its Runway

KIMBALL, Neb. — Operation "highway takeoff" for an Air Force jet trainer on busy Highway 30 went off slick as a whistle here late Friday afternoon.

The entire operation, postponed twice due to poor flying weather, was completed in about 20 minutes, according to Arthur Hendrickson, Kimball editor.

Although a longer stretch was blocked off by Nebraska Highway Patrolmen and deputy sheriffs, the jet need only six-tenths of a mile of the pavement for its takeoff.

The stranded two-place plane was towed up to the highway by a tractor unit and under its own power navigated a curve in the highway before starting its getaway.

The jet made a forced landing in a Kimball oil field a week ago after the pilot, Major J. Biscayart of Montgomery, Ala., discovered the plane was low on fuel. When the plane finally came to a halt, it was only one-fourth of a mile from the city limits of Kimball.

Piloting the plane Friday on its takeoff was Major Vincent Casey of Cheyenne, a flier with the Wyoming National Air Guard. He flew the jet to Cheyenne.

First Private Atomic Plants Are Approved

... In N. Y., Illinois

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The Atomic Energy Commission Friday gave an official go-ahead for construction of the first large-scale private atomic power plants.

The two nuclear reactors authorized will cost an estimated 100 million dollars and are expected to be completed in 1960.

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, was given a permit to build a 35-million-dollar plant on a 350-acre site on the Hudson River near Buchanan, about 21 miles north of New York City. The estimated cost does not include the land and transmission facilities.

The plant, using nuclear and conventional fuels in combination, will be designed to generate 200,000 kilowatts of electricity. The construction permit calls for completion of the reactor by Oct. 1, 1959. The Commonwealth Edison Co. of Chicago, was issued a permit to build a 45-million-dollar plant on a 950-acre site at the junction of the Kankakee and Des Plaines rivers in Grundy County, Ill., about 30 miles southwest of Chicago. The cost does not include the land or transmission facilities.

The plant will be a gas turbine reactor, a type of nuclear reactor designed for completion by September, 1960.

The permits allocate special clear material to be made available over a 40-year period for use as reactor fuel.

The AEC calculated that over the 40 years Consolidated will require 5,699 kilograms of U235 and Commonwealth 8,323 kilograms.

It is at this stage, construction approval, for which Consumers Public Power District is presently negotiating with the AEC. Consumers is seeking approval for the first public atomic power plant.

The Consumers' proposal is for a 75,000 kilowatt plant with a cost estimated at $25 million, including the site. Consumers has already purchased a section of land north of Hallam for the plant.

Ray Schacht of Columbus, Consumers general manager, reported Friday negotiations for AEC construction approval were proceeding as rapidly as could be expected. Consumers, he said, is optimistic and expects an answer from AEC "within a matter of months."

New Nuclear Test Series Opens With 'Small' Blast

... Big One Set For Tuesday

ABOARD USS MT. MCKINLEY, in Eniwetok Atoll (Saturday) (U.P.) — America's nuclear weapons testers opened a new series of trials today at the mid-Pacific proving grounds with a comparatively small atomic blast—enough to have killed a few thousand people in wartime.

The public was invited to see this explosion through the eyes of although officials declined to speculate, was the test of a warhead for a tactical bomb or guided missile. There was speculation, however, that the explosion was of a weapon dropped from a plane. What they probably saw today.

This one, however, was detonated from a position on the surface of Runit Island, a mile-long, two-yard wide strip of coral along the eastern fringe of Eniwetok Atoll.

It was announced officially that the B-1 bomber drop scheduled for Tuesday—Monday U.S. time—will be made from a B-2 heavy jet bomber—newest and fastest of the Strategic Air Command's fleet of bombers.

The mammoth detonation, designated as Shot Cherokee will take place at "several thousand feet" in the air, the task force high command announced.

It'll Be a Big Boom
As to the magnitude of Shot Cherokee, task force officials refused to state exactly that it would be of the "several million tons of TNT" yield.

That would make it possibly a thousand times as powerful as today's burst witnessed by newsmen.

Defense Rests In Murder Trial

OMAHA (U.P.) — The defense rested Friday in the first-degree murder trial of Stanley John (Steve) Nowicki.

Rebuttal evidence by the prosecution followed and attorneys' final arguments probably will begin Monday.

10-Year NATO Plan

Policy To Counter
Kremlin's Softer
Tactics Asked

PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Friday called on the free world to marshal its vast moral and material resources in a new 10-year program for holding back communism.

Dulles told his 14 fellow foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the West has checked Russia's advance at this juncture in world history.

But Dulles declared that the Atlantic community now must map out a program for the next decade to counter the Kremlin's new soft tactics and win over to freedom the uncommitted peoples of Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

He said that if the free world stands firm, it could foster an embryonic trend toward liberalism now discernible in the Soviet Union.

Might Shift
Dulles warned that if Russia's trade-and-aid offensive in the underdeveloped countries succeeds, then the ratio of peoples under Communist rule might shift from the minority to the majority.

Dulles proposed creation of a committee of two or three Atlantic Pact ministers to work out practical ways for strengthening NATO in the political and economic fields. This committee would report back in the fall to the Ministerial Council.

Diplomatic informants said Dulles indicated previously some willingness to serve on the top-level study committee.

Dulles spoke twice to the opening day meeting of the Atlantic Council which is urgently considering ways to pep up NATO and meet the switch in Soviet tactics.

World Agency

Summaries of Dulles' speeches before the closed sessions were made available to reporters. Texts were not released.

France's Foreign Minister, Christian Pineau laid before the Council a plan for creating a new world economic development agency. It would operate within the framework of the U.N. and help underprivileged countries.

The agency would make out-right grants, five long and short term loans and buy surplus production of needy countries.

Police Seek Driver Of Injury Auto

Police were seeking Friday the identification of a driver who left the scene after his car struck a boy at 17th and D Sts.

The injured boy, Willis H. Renter, 9, of 1216 So. 17th St., was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for bruises and abrasions.

According to Bill Johnston, motorcycle officer, the driver reportedly stopped after striking the boy, asked if he was hurt, and drove on when the boy said he wasn't.

Police said they wanted the identity of the driver in order to make out a report of the accident.

Johnston said the boy was walking from the north to the south in the crosswalk when struck by the car. The boy later was released.

During 50 years in the newspaper business McCoy published papers at Omaha, Dunning, Ulysses, Randolph, Chester and Cedar Bluffs.

Airman Accident Victim Reported Improved Little

Lincoln Airman John R. Frankovich remained in serious but improved condition Friday. He was one of four airmen most seriously injured Thursday night in a one car accident near the West O Lincoln Air Base cutoff.

The others, all from the 343rd Bomber Squadron, included driver of the car, Edward Trettina Jr., 21, in fairly good condition; Gilbert Lovato, 18, in fair condition, and Paul Kalous, 22, also in fair condition.

The airmen are hospitalized at St. Elizabeth's.

State Mother Receives Award

Touching Capitol Ceremony Names Mrs. Garcia As 'Mother Of Year'

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

One of the most touching ceremonies in the history of the Nebraska State Mothers awards occurred in the governor's hearing room Friday when Mrs. Carmen Garcia of Scottsbluff, was named State Mother of 1956.

Tears flowed from her eyes at tribute given her by her children and she completely broke down when her son, on behalf of all the children, pinned to her a gold pin signifying that she is State Mother.

Mrs. Garcia later explained that the tears were "tears of joy" over the success of her children and the fact that the United States proved really the land of opportunity that her father had promised when they left Mexico.

"I had a very co-operative family," she said. "They did what I told them. I feel that it is the children and not the mother so much that makes this possible."

"Feel Very Humble"
"I feel very humble. I never dreamed that I would one day be here in the Capitol, beside the governor and the outstanding people of the state. But, this is America. This is democracy. All of us have the opportunity to climb the ladder to the 'N-th' degree in this country of ours."

Mrs. Ralph Hill, chairman of the state mothers' committee, related Mrs. Garcia's girlhood plans changed when she met her husband, then a seminary student, in Los Angeles where both were in school. They moved to Lincoln where Mrs. Garcia completed her own high school training after marriage. She obtained her bachelor's degree by use of correspondence study while caring for her family. She now teaches Spanish at Chadron Teachers College where she is also working for her master's degree in education.

Mrs. Hill said the award was proof that we must learn that "minority groups are all the time Americans."

Dr. John Garcia, Sidney, one of her four out of five children present and three adopted children of a relative, presented the pin. Four of her family are college graduates and two more are completing their college courses this spring. One son is in high school at Scottsbluff and was unable to attend.

Other Garcia children present were Janice, who is studying physiotherapy at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.; Laura, who graduates from the University of Nebraska next month; two adopted daughters, Olga Arriaga, Nebraska University graduate now teaching in the Pueblo, Colo., schools and Margaret Robinett, teacher in the Lincoln schools.

Others are Earl, 17, student at home; Mrs. Eva Ruth Vance, also a University graduate, now teaching at Bernicia, Calif.; and an adopted daughter, Geneva Medina of Denver.

Gov. Victor Anderson presented Mrs. Garcia with the certificate remarking, "Everybody has a chance in this country no matter how humble a beginning they may have."

The husband, Rev. E. V. Garcia, quietly sat on the sidelines but smiled his pride in his wife. Five former state mothers attended the presentation. They were Mrs. M. E. Crosby, North Platte, 1955; Mrs. A. B. Newell, Grand Island, 1954; Mrs. Walter Kiechle, Tecumseh, 1950; Mrs. Herbert Brownell, Lincoln, 1949; and Mrs. Robert Simmons, Lincoln, 1946.

In the afternoon a reception and tea was held in the reception room at First Baptist Church for the mother by her many friends in Lincoln.

Prehistoric Man Discovered In Oregon By Dr. Cressman

... Revealed At NU Meeting

A report by Professor Luther S. Cressman of the University of Oregon Friday at the Society for American Archeology meeting at the University of Nebraska was confirmed late Friday afternoon by Yale University that prehistoric man lived in Oregon as early as 8,000 years ago.

Archeological specimens from Oregon were tested at Yale by the atomic calendar to confirm Dr. Cressman's findings.

Dr. Cressman had made the announcement in Lincoln during the afternoon session, but last-minute scientific tests results were only released late Friday afternoon. The discovery was considered to be a major find.

Cressman directed excavations at the Five Mile Rapids on Oregon's Columbia River, which yielded fossils and charcoal. Edward Deevey of Yale tested the materials for radioactive carbon which is science's newest yardstick for fixing dates. The radioactive carbon forms in all decaying matter, it was explained.

Beginning with an Indian grave, dating back a mere 135 years, Cressman probed into the archeological site finding fossils and such artifacts as a polished antler tip which had been used for cutting; the base of a harpoon prong, and a flint knife, shaped by percussion flaking, a process dating back a million years.

Some of these were in stratum which the atomic calendar showed to be 6,000 years old. Others were found at the 7,500-year strata, still others further down, at about the 8,000-year level.

At its annual meeting on the NU campus Dr. William A. Ritchie, director of the New York State Museum at Albany was elected president of the society.

Other officers are: first vice president, Dr. William H. Sears of the Florida State Museum at Gainesville; second vice president, Dr. Erik K. Reed of the National Parks Service Santa Fe, New Mexico; and secretary, Dr. David A. Barreis of the University of Wisconsin.

Fred Johnson of the R. S. Peabody Fund, Hanover, Mass., was elected to the executive committee.

Dr. Eric Thompson of the Carnegie Institution at Cambridge, Mass., received the $1,000 prize and medal of the Viking Award given annually to an American making significant contributions to archeology.

Jet Takes Off Using U.S. 30 As Its Runway

KIMBALL, Neb. — Operation "highway takeoff" for an Air Force jet trainer on busy Highway 30 went off slick as a whistle here late Friday afternoon.

The entire operation, postponed twice due to poor flying weather, was completed in about 20 minutes, according to Arthur Henrickson, Kimball editor.

Although a longer stretch was blocked off by Nebraska Highway Patrolmen and deputy sheriffs, the jet need only six-tenths of a mile of the pavement for its takeoff. The stranded two-place plane was towed up to the highway by a tractor unit and under its own power navigated a curve in the highway before starting its getaway.

The jet made a forced landing in a Kimball oil field a week ago after the pilot, Major J. Biscayart of Montgomery, Ala., discovered the plane was low on fuel. When the plane finally came to a halt, it was only one-fourth of a mile from the city limits of Kimball.

Piloting the plane Friday on its takeoff was Major Vincent Casey of Cheyenne, a flier with the Wyoming National Air Guard. He flew the jet to Cheyenne.

First Private Atomic Plants Are Approved

... In N. Y., Illinois

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission Friday gave an official go-ahead for construction of the first large-scale private atomic power plants.

The two nuclear reactors authorized will cost an estimated 100 million dollars and are expected to be completed in 1960.

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, was given a permit to build a 55-million-dollar plant on a 350-acre site on the Hudson River near Buchanan, about 24 miles north of New York City. The estimated cost does not include the land and transmission facilities.

The plant, using nuclear and conventional fuels in combination, will be designed to generate 236,000 kilowatts of electricity. The construction permit calls for completion of the reactor by Oct. 1, 1960.

The Commonwealth Edison Co. of Chicago, was issued a permit to build a 45-million-dollar plant on a 950-acre site at the junction of the Kankakee and Des Plaines rivers in Grundy County, Ill., about 50 miles southwest of Chicago. The cost does not include the land or transmission facilities.

The plant, with a net generating capacity of 139,000 kilowatts, is due for completion by Sept. 30, 1960.

The permits allocate special nuclear material to be made available over a 40-year period for use as reactor fuel.

The AEC calculated that over the 40 years Consolidated will require 5,699 kilograms of U235 and Commonwealth 8,323 kilograms.

It is at this stage, construction approval, for which Consumers Public Power District is presently negotiating with the AEC. Consumers is seeking approval for the first public atomic power plant.

The Consumers' proposal is for a 75,000 kilowatt plant with a cost estimated at $25 million, including the site. Consumers has already purchased a section of land north of Hallam for the plant.

Ray Schacht of Columbus, Consumers general manager, reported Friday negotiations for AEC construction approval were proceeding as rapidly as could be expected. Consumers, he said, is optimistic and expects an answer from AEC "within a matter of months."

New Nuclear Test Series Opens With 'Small' Blast

... Big One Set For Tuesday

By ELTON C. FAY

ABOARD USS MT. McKinley, in Eniwetok Atoll (Saturday) (AP)—America's nuclear weapons testers opened a new series of trials today at the mid-Pacific proving grounds with a comparatively small atomic blast—enough to have killed a few thousand people in wartime.

The public was invited to see this explosion through the eyes of newsmen, television and radio representatives and Civil Defense officials. Later this group will witness a major hydrogen explosion of a weapon dropped from a plane. What they probably saw today, although officials declined to specify, was the test of a warhead for a tactical bomb or guided missile. There was speculation the force was equal to about 15,000 tons of TNT.

This one, however, was detonated from a position on the surface of Runit Island, a mile-long, 100-yard wide strip of coral along the eastern fringe of Eniwetok Atoll.

It was announced officially that the big H-bomb drop scheduled for next Tuesday—Monday U.S. time—will be made from a B52 heavy jet bomber—newest and fastest of the Strategic Air Command's fleet of bombers.

The mammoth detonation, designated as Shot Cherokee will take place at "several thousand feet" in the air, the task force high command announced.

It'll Be a Big Boom
As to the magnitude of Shot Cherokee, task force officials remained indefinite, saying only that it would be of "several megatons"—equivalent to several million tons of TNT—yield.

That would make it possibly a thousand times as powerful as today's burst witnessed by newsmen.

Defense Rests In Murder Trial

OMAHA (AP)—The defense rested Friday in the first-degree murder trial of Stanley John (Steve) Nowicki.

Rebuttal evidence by the prosecution followed and attorneys said final arguments probably will begin Monday.

Nowicki is charged in the fatal slashing and stabbing of his ex-wife, Carolyn Ann Thomas, Jan. 19.

Majority Of Demo Convention Candidates Favor Kefauver

Tennessean Is Lone Entry

By The Associated Press

Candidates for tickets to the Republican National Convention are universally certain of its outcome, but their Democratic opposites figure they'll have to go to the convention to find out.

A virtually complete survey of candidates for delegate posts taken by the Associated Press showed at the time their answers were made only five Republicans failed to put their OK on a second term for President Eisenhower.

Two said they'd support the winner of the preference primary on the first ballot, and President Eisenhower is the only one entered in the primary. Two others preferred to be labeled as "uncommitted."

The fifth, Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, said he thought a second term would bring the death of the President and he didn't "propose to be party to that kind of political expediency." He said he thought Eisenhower would be nominated by acclamation, however.

Second choices were hard to come by in Republican quarters. The candidates either didn't reply to the question or emphasized their approval of the President by writing "Eisenhower-Nixon" for second as well as first choice.

Democrats, despite the obvious uncertainty as to the extent of the field when convention time rolls around, showed a disposition toward unity — When they find out more about prospects.

Twelve first choices went to Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the only Democrat entered in the Nebraska primary; one went to Adlai Stevenson; and two were given the winner of the preference primary. Eight remained unpledged.

National Committeeman Bernard J. Boyle of Omaha said it's too early for him to make any pronouncement but he said the outcome of the California primary "will shed considerable light on the status of the two leading candidates."

Here's how the delegate candidates line up on "first ballot" choices. Some answers were given before Vice-President Nixon entered the race; some were given afterward.

Miller said he looked for a favorable report soon from the Interior Department. Reports from interested federal agencies are required before Congress considers a project.

Miller has introduced a bill to authorize the Farwell unit, designed to irrigate 53,000 acres in Howard and Sherman Counties.

The dam and reservoir would be on the Middle Loup River in Sherman County. Estimated construction cost is $30½ million.

Two Pieces Of Good News

Nebraskans wound up the week comforted by two pieces of news.

One was from the state highway department noting new achievements during April in the field of traffic safety. Only 16 Nebraskans lost their lives. That is a 33 per cent decrease from April a year ago when there were 33 deaths. The department asserted that tighter policing of the highways contributed to the better state of affairs.

The other was that Nebraska is wet and getting wetter—no gullywashers, but certainly the kind of rain and weather that conserves the fallen moisture and puts and keeps it where it belongs. The extended forecast promises more of the same at least until midweek.

Farm prices and unsettled programs provide the human disturbances for an otherwise good life on the farm. But we will all agree that nature comes first. It takes crops to produce most of our problems, all of which can be solved. But when nature rebels and there are no crops—that's one problem for which there is no solution.

As the May rains come we can reflect that the threat of drought has been dispelled for the time being and that is reassuring news.

Part Of Its Growth

We haven't any idea to what extent the citizens of Columbus are grateful for Nebraska's public power program. Columbus is a growing town and to some extent, at least, its growth can be attributed to the fact that it is the hub of operations for Consumers Public Power District, and with Consumers, the Nebraska Public Power System.

Its early beginnings embrace many stories, including the struggle of a remarkable woman and her two remarkable sons—the North family. The head of that family was caught in an unexpected blizzard on West Farnam Street in 1855, if we remember, froze to death, and his body was discovered by the search party the day following. Mrs. North took her two sons to the junction of the Loup and Platte which became the site of the city of Columbus. One son, Frank, was to become known as a major in command of the Pawnee scouts. The other, Luther, held the rank of captain with the group. They and a faithful Pawnee tribe succeeded in reducing the hazards of the western settlements.

From that day to this, Columbus has been an up-and-coming community, its growth steady and continuous. But in these recent years, Columbus has been one of the Nebraska communities to which progress has been so kind, with new industries.

Changed Principle Emerging

The House this week by a heavy majority passed its modified farm bill. It now remains to be seen what the Senate will bring forth.

The House bill heeded both President Eisenhower's veto and his recommendations. It set aside $1.4 billion annually during the coming four years to finance the soil bank program. But it rebuffed the administration's effort for a $500 million pay-in-advance to farmers in advance of the November election.

Among the practical things, if any really are in this period of dismantling the farm program as the farmer has known it the past 20 years, the House raised the price support to $1.25 a bushel on corn acreage converted to the soil bank.

Originally the Department of Agriculture wished to allow half the support price for non-produced corn figured on average annual production per acre. That would have allowed something like 75 cents a bushel. When, after the presidential veto of the first farm bill, Secretary Benson announced a $1.25 per bushel price guarantee for corn produced out of compliance, there was little promise for a soil bank plan that would pay off only 75 cents a bushel on drastically limited production against a support of $1.25 on unlimited production. The new floor in the House bill brings that disparity into something more consistent.

But as a dispassionate observer studies this most recent version of a farm program with preceding developments it appears that each deal offers agriculture a little less than it had before, and that each progressive step is a retreat from the long standing principle of keeping the national economy in balance by keeping the farm dollar at approximately parity with other dollars. The trend seems to be price floors too far under parity to be of much service to agriculture, but rather protecting the administration from the problems of a wholesale and devastating price break such as confronted the nation at the outset of the great depression.

Do It Over

Congress should be credited with a bad guess when one surveys the result of its military reserve act, passed last August.

Aimed at creating a substantial reserve of military strength the law has failed to attract a justifiable response. It was estimated that it would bring about enlistments of 95,000 young men by next July and within two years create a reserve establishment of 2,900,000. A recent check-up shows only 22,000 enlistments and a total reserve force of but 890,000 men.

Editorial Of The Day

Dictator In The Wings

(From The Milwaukee Journal)

There's much talk in the Communist world these days about "collective leadership." This is what present Russian top management is supposed to be, as compared with Stalin's leadership, called "cult of the individual."

We were reading recently about Leon Trotsky, who led the 1917 Russian Communist revolution with Nicolai Lenin and was later exiled by Josef Stalin.

It was interesting to find that "collective leadership"—although it wasn't called that then—was an issue with the Communists in 1904, when thoughts of ruling Russia were little more than dreams.

The exiled Russian revolutionaries held a conference in London. There was a row about how best to organize to overthrow the Czar. Lenin demanded that he direct a tight, disciplined party organization. Others, including Trotsky, favored a broad based party along the lines of the democratic Socialist groups then existing in western Europe.

Lenin won. The defeated, disappointed Trotsky put out a vituperative pamphlet attacking Lenin and Lenin's doctrines. He charged that the latter were fit only for a party which would "substitute itself for the working classes," act as proxy in their name and on their behalf, regardless of what the workers felt and thought.

Cooley Called Benson's Hand

WASHINGTON — The backstage maneuvering over a farm bill has been happening with such lightning speed that the press, let alone the public, can't keep up with it. Seldom, however, has politics been so wrapped up in any legislation, even in an election year.

With dire reports coming from the farm belt following Ike's veto of the farm bill, the Republicans were almost frantic in their desire to pass something to put immediate cash in the farmers' pocket. Secretary of Agriculture Benson was also frantic in his desire to get credit for the soil bank.

Appearing before the House Agriculture Committee, Benson was asked by Chairman Harold Cooley, North Carolina Democrat:

"Mr. Secretary, you have presented something you call the soil bank. But you overlook the fact that in 1934 we spent $637,000,000 starting to build up the soil of this country. And from that year on, we continued to build up the soil. Every year that you've been in office, however you have asked us for less and less money for soil. You asked us last year for $175,000,000 and we voted you $200,000,000."

And now, suddenly, you want us to build up soil again? I remember last February," continued Cooley, "I wrote you a letter asking you in detail about setting aside an acreage reserve in the form of a soil bank. And you kept my letter from February until July. Then, after conferring with all your assistants, you finally answered that it was too expensive and impractical."

PRE-ELECTION BONDS

"Now, can you tell me today," concluded Cooley, "one authority you need for a soil bank that you don't already have in the bill passed 20 years ago by the Democrats?"

Benson turned to his lawyers for advice. Before they could answer, Cooley continued:

"I can think of two — authority to make long-term contracts with farmers and authority to protect farmers."

"All right," said Cooley, "you send me in writing the authority you need and we'll pass it."

Benson, however, didn't warm up to the idea at all. He wanted a brand new bill. The White House also asked for authority to make advance payments to farmers out of the soil-bank program to the tune of $500,000,000.

This pre-election bonanza managed Democratic leaders in Congress and Congressman James H. Wright of Mississippi in particular.

Chotiner's Path To White House

WASHINGTON — Between White House calls in behalf of his clients and a Justice Department memorandum directing Justice lawyers to exercise care in dealing with him, Murray Chotiner has made a telling debut on the Senate investigative scene.

Chotiner is the criminal lawyer and public relations expert who has managed all of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaigns, including the controversial Nixon tour in the 1954 congressional contests. Recently Chotiner has been conducting GOP education tours over the country.

Chotiner admitted the White House calls. He said they were not about politics but for clients. He defended their propriety and said he had never used the vice president's name.

The White House aides who obliged him were Maxwell Rabb, who is secretary of the cabinet and in charge of minority problems, and Charles F. Willis Jr., a former patronage assistant now back in private business.

Chotiner testified he had never heard of the Justice Department's "take care" memorandum and Chairman John L. McClellan did not elaborate on it.

Subcommittee sources said later that Justice had admitted the memorandum's existence but refused to give the senators a copy of it. Their understanding is that it was issued in 1953 and signed by either Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. or Deputy Attorney General

William Rogers. McClellan will renew his efforts to get it for the record.

White House calls are a staple of Senate investigations and just so, such is the power of the presidency.

One who picks up the telephone and hears the magic words "the White House calling" may feel pleased, happy and important. He also understands, if he has a trace of political sophistication, that a small or large piece of the greatest single political influence on earth is being brought to bear on him. Chotiner made a good witness. He was thoroughly composed and his answers were clear. His criminal practice, not his politics, brought him before the committee.

Chotiner has represented various clothing manufacturers who are under investigation for corruption and bribery in military procurement. One, Herman Kravitz, recently was convicted of theft of government-owned furs. A Kravitz associate, W. A. Parzow, who followed Chotiner to the stand, was convicted of jury-fixing in 1941. A third, Marco Reginaldi, was described by Committee Counsel Robert Kennedy as one of the top hoodlums of the Philadelphia-New Jersey area.

Kennedy said Reginaldi was arrested 16 times, convicted five or six and involved in at least three murders. Citizenship and deportation proceedings are pending against him.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

It's "only a scrap of paper" (high school diploma) to too many teenagers while to men of experience, it is one of the most precious possessions in the world, F. B. Decker, director of education said in pointing out that it is one of the puzzles to which his staff is seeking an answer.

Decker said that a 37-year-old Lincoln man probably will be the ARCH DONOVAN oldest high school graduate in the state this year and one of the most enthusiastic over the honors paid him. This will be followed by retirement from the postal service after 30 years continuous employment.

phere and wrote to him for advice. In his usual prompt manner, Pat answered but the request struck his funny-bone and the answer was facetious.

A great believer in youth, Pat urged that they be recruited the same as they were in his younger days. He told of how common tornadoes were and said the sight of one caused all children to run for it.

"The first one there grabbed it by the tail and tied the tail around the nearest tree," Pat wrote to his buddy.

A letter now advises that the letter has been photostated and this and other experiences told by the Nebraska adjutant are being sent to the Burlington Hars' contest.

Friends in the Statehouse say it may not win a medal for Pat any more than his activities in World War I but they insist they can tell some of his stories, given as true, that would win.

The esprit de corps pounded into Pat in the Marine Corps has never wavered and he gets great delight in telling of the exploits of Marines in which he rose to the rank of private.

Recent stories of recruit training of Marines at Parris Island, S. C., has caused other veterans to scoff at Pat. He takes it in his usual poor grace and explains:

"It is all true about the swamps on the island. I have been through all of them. I used to walk on my hands to avoid having to shine my shoes the following day. They really teach esprit de corps there."

Pat says they were harder on recruits in his day than now. He recalls that his drill sergeant later became a secretary in the Defense Department.

"You have to be tough to fill a job like that," he insists.

As a drillmaster he used to throw a sword at us and if it fell to the ground bent and full of nicks, then and only then, he called us out of ranks for shipment overseas as fighting Marines.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Christ For The World We Sing

Christ for the world we sing.
The world to Christ we bring.
With loving zeal;
The poor, and them that mourn
The faint and over-borne,
Sick and sorrow-worn,
Whom Christ doth heal.

Christ for the world we sing.
The world to Christ we bring.
With fervent prayer,
The weary and the lost,
By restless passion tossed,
Redeemed, at countless cost,
From dark despair.

Christ for the world we sing.
The world to Christ we bring.
With one accord,
With us the work to share,
With us the reproach to dare,
With us the cross to bear,
For Christ our Lord.

Christ for the world we sing.
The world to Christ we bring.
With joyful souls,
The new-born souls, whose days
Reclaimed from error's ways,
Inspired with hope and praise,
To Christ belong.

By HORACE B. POWELL

That was the slogan which, inscribed in large, ever-green letters over the stage at a state Young Men's Christian Association convention in his home city, greeted Samuel Wolcott, Cleveland pastor, as he entered the convention hall one February night in 1901. The convention program that night must have been a most interesting one, but it was the theme song, the program that Wolcott remembered as he had faced with his friends and started homeward. Walking alone through the streets, he kept thinking of the challenging motto and decided that it would make a good missionary hymn theme. He began to write as he walked. One stanza after another took form and, by the time he reached his residence, he had completed all four verses just as they are sung today.

It was natural for Wolcott to be fascinated by the missionary theme which inspired his first hymn ten years earlier as a young man, he had served on the foreign mission field in Syria. Ill health compelled him to return to the United States and he served several Congregational pastorates in New England and the Middle West before going to Cleveland.

Kitchen Efficiency

A young fox cannot outsmart an old one; let him try, and he usually ends up chewing neck meat and tail feathers. This is an analogy that is liable to get me in trouble, because Mrs. F. has no resemblance whatever to a fox, and her years are not what you might call venerable. Just the same, the ways of foxes and women with their young are equally inscrutable.

The tug of wits at our house has been a long-range contest in perseverance between Mrs. F. and our daughter, Merrilee, and the battleground was the kitchen cupboard.

As for myself, I have observed the strictest neutrality, which is the only safe thing for a man to do when his wife and teenage daughter discover disagreement between themselves.

It all started with dishwashing, which is another reason I carefully maintained the status of an on-looker. When it comes to dishwashing, I firmly hold that it is far better to be an onlooker than to risk becoming a participant. I said nothing when Merrilee became critical of her mother's system of dish storage.

"Mother, why can't you put things where they belong?" demanded Merrilee, whose task on that occasion was wiping the dishes and putting them away on the shelves. "The bowls are where the plates ought to be, and the saucers are all over the shelves! How can I put things away?"

Between rearrangements, Mrs. F. managed to shuffle plates, soup bowls and everything else back to a normal confusion. Occasionally she protested.

The heavy mixing bowls, she pointed out once, should not be placed on the third shelf up, because it was too hard to get them down without a stepladder, and there was always the danger of dropping them on my head when I was in the way in the kitchen. "Or worse yet," she added, "I might drop them on one of the dogs. They could be hurt."

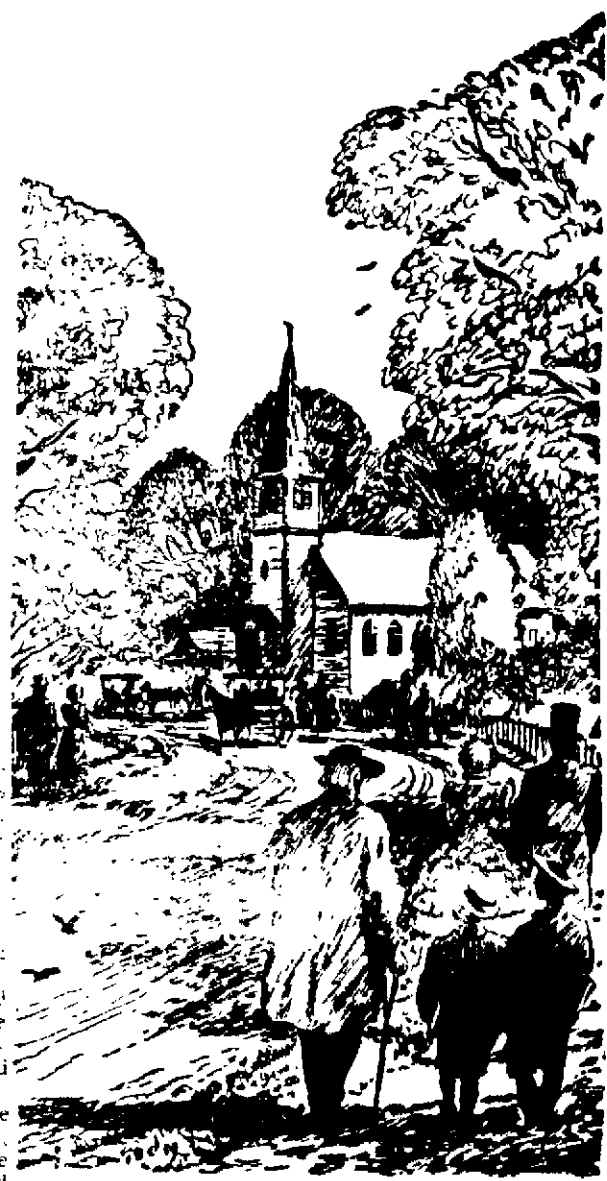

It began to look like endurance alone would determine the winner of the cupboard feud. Then the end came suddenly and, for me, unexpectedly. Last night Mrs. F. led me to the kitchen, threw open the cupboard doors and said, "Look what your daughter has done!"

There, row upon neat row, hand-printed and taped to the edges of the shelves, were labels. There were labels for glasses, saucers, plates, soup bowls, cups, mixing bowls, salad plates — all the vast number of utensils which somehow seem necessary to women. Each label had an arrow pointing to the designated storage spot. The arrangement was precise, logical and efficient.

"She put them up while I was out shopping," Mrs. F. said, "and now she insists there is no possible reason for me to misplace things."

"I guess," I chuckled, "that your daughter has put you in your place!" Mrs. F. looked at me pityingly. She said, "That's the way I always kept the shelves until Merrilee began to help me in the kitchen. Only she never would have liked the system if she hadn't figured it out herself. So now we'll both be happy."

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The April 30, 1956, issue of the Wall Street Journal contains this very snort paragraph:

"Cheese transactions between the agricultural Department and 109 firms may be the latest target of governmental prosecutors. The Justice Department reportedly is taking quick legal steps to recover more than $2 million in allegedly 'unauthorized' profits made by the sale and resale of the commodity to Uncle Sam."

This cheese deal took place a while ago when Ike's secretary of agriculture (Mr. Benson, in case you've forgotten) made the transaction which resulted in the above mentioned profits for cheese dealers, without even requiring the cheese to be moved from storage. It was a paper transaction, for the most part, but the profits were real.

The Ike administration apparently is afraid of this one and is going to try to recover the money and appear virtuous. Two million dollars involved—and the "mess in Washington" was stirred up over

Cooley Called Benson's Hand

WASHINGTON — The backstage maneuvering over a farm bill has been happening with such lightning speed that the press, let alone the public, can't keep up with it. Seldom, however, has politics been so wrapped up in any legislation, even in an election year.

With dire reports coming from the farm belt following Ike's veto of the farm bill, the Republicans were almost frantic in their desire to pass something to put immediate cash in the farmers' pocket. Secretary of Agriculture Benson was also frantic in his desire to get credit for the soil bank.

And from that year on, we continued to build up the soil. Every year that you've been in office, however you have asked us for less and less money for soil. You asked us last year for $175,000,000 and we voted you $250,000,000.

"And now suddenly you want what you call a soil bank."
"I remember last February," continued Cooley, "I wrote you a letter asking you in detail about setting aside an acreage reserve in the form of a soil bank. And you kept my letter from February until July. Then, after conferring with all your assistants, you finally answered that it was too expensive and impractical.

PRE-ELECTION BONUS

"Now, can you tell me today," concluded Cooley, "one authority you need for a soil bank that you don't already have in the bill passed 20 years ago by the Democrats?"

Benson turned to his lawyers for advice. Before they could answer, Cooley continued:

"I can think of two — authority to make long-term contracts with farmers and authority to protect farmers."

"All right," said Cooley, "you send me in writing the authority you need and we'll pass it."

Benson, however, didn't warm up to the idea at all. He wanted a brand new bill. The White House also asked for authority to make advance payments to farmers out of the soil-bank program to the tune of $500,000,000.

This pre-election bonus outraged Democratic leaders in general and Congressman Jamie Whitten of Mississippi in particular.

Chotiner's Path To White House

WASHINGTON — Between White House calls in behalf of his clients and a Justice Department memorandum directing Justice lawyers to exercise care in dealing with him, Murray Chotiner has made a telling debut on the Senate investigative scene.

Chotiner is the criminal lawyer and public relations expert who has managed all of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaigns, including the controversial Nixon tour in the 1954 congressional contests. Recently Chotiner has been conducting GOP education tours over the country.

Chotiner admitted the White House calls. He said they were not about politics but for clients. He defended their propriety and said he had never used the vice president's name.

The White House aides who obliged him were Maxwell Rabb, who is secretary of the cabinet and in charge of minority problems, and Charles F. Willis Jr., a former patronage assistant now back in private business.

Chotiner testified he had never heard of the Justice Department's "take care" memorandum and Chairman John L. McClellan did not elaborate on it.

Subcommittee sources said later that Justice had admitted the memorandum's existence but refused to give the senators a copy of it. Their understanding is that it was issued in 1953 and signed by either Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. or Deputy Attorney General

William Rogers. McClellan will renew his efforts to get it for the record.

White House calls are a staple of Senate investigations and justly so, such is the power of the presidency.

One who picks up the telephone and hears the magic words "the White House calling" may feel pleased, happy and important. He also understands, if he has a trace of political sophistication, that a small or large piece of the greatest single political influence on earth is being brought to bear on him.

Chotiner made a good witness. He was thoroughly composed and his answers were clear. His criminal practice, not his politics, brought him before the committee.

Chotiner has represented various clothing manufacturers who are under investigation for corruption and bribery in military procurement. One, Herman Kravitz, recently was convicted of theft of government-owned furs.

A Kravitz associate, W. A. Parzow, who followed Chotiner to the stand, was convicted of jury-fixing in 1941. A third, Marco Reginelli, was described by Committee Counsel Robert Kennedy as one of the top hoodlums of the Philadelphia-New Jersey area.

Kennedy said Reginelli was arrested 16 times, convicted five or six and involved in at least three murders. Citizenship and deportation proceedings are pending against him.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

It's "only a scrap of paper" (high school diploma) to too many teenagers while to men of experience, it is one of the most precious possessions in the world. F. B. Decker, director of education said in pointing out that it is one of the puzzles to which his staff is seeking an answer.

Decker said that a 57-year-old Lincoln man probably will be the ARCH DONOVAN oldest high school graduate in the state this year and one of the most enthusiastic over the honors paid him. This will be followed by retirement from the postal service after 30 years continuous employment.

According to Decker, Rudolph D. Anderson quit high school in the tenth grade at Bristow. Shortly afterwards he was wearing the uniform of his country and served in World War I. After discharge he entered the postal service and for several years has been at the Statehouse branch.

But throughout the years, he has regretted not having his diploma, according to the state school head. Provision has now been made for veterans to get diplomas if they pass a G.E.D. test.

Decker said that because Anderson passed with an "exceptional" grade, his office had no hesitation in recommending that the Bristow school grant him one. He will receive it at exercises May 8.

It was also learned that R. C. "Pat" Patterson, state adjutant of the American Legion, is to become a candidate for the "biggest liar in the U.S." at a liar's contest conducted at Burlington, Ia.

A vice-commander of the Legion living in a region visited by tornadoes this year recalled that Pat has long lived in such an atmosphere and wrote to him for advice. In his usual prompt manner, Pat answered but the request struck his funny-bone and the answer was facetious.

A great believer in youth, Pat urged that they be recruited the same as they were in his younger days. He told of how common tornadoes were and said the sight of one caused all children to run for it.

"The first one there grabbed it by the tail and tied the tail around the nearest tree," Pat wrote to his buddy.

A letter now advises that the letter has been photostated and this and other experiences told by the Nebraska adjutant are being sent to the Burlington liars' contest.

Friends in the Statehouse say it may not win a medal for Pat any more than his activities in World War I but they insist they can tell some of his stories, given as true, that would win.

The esprit de corps pounded into Pat in the Marine Corps has never wavered and he gets great delight in telling of the exploits of Marines in which he rose to the rank of private.

Recent stories of recruit training of Marines at Parris Island, S. C., has caused other veterans to scoff at Pat. He takes it in his usual poor grace and explains.

"It is all true about the swamps on the island. I have been through all of them. I used to walk on my hands to avoid having to shine my shoes the following day. They really treat esprit de corps there."

Pat says they were harder on recruits in his day than now. He recalls that his drill sergeant later became a secretary in the Defense Department.

"You have to be tough to fill a job like that," he insists.

As a drillmaster he used to throw a sword at us and if it fell to the ground bent and full of nicks, then and only then, he called up out of ranks for shipment overseas as fighting Marines.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Christ For The World We Sing

Christ for the world we sing;
The world to Christ we bring,
With loving zeal;
The poor, and them that mourn,
The faint and over-borne,
Sin-sick and sorrow-worn,
Whom Christ doth heal.

Christ for the world we sing;
The world to Christ we bring,
With fervent prayer;
The wayward and the lost,
By restless passion tossed,
Redeemed, at countless cost,
From dark despair.

Christ for the world we sing;
The world to Christ we bring,
With one accord;
With us the work to share,
With us reproach to dare,
With us the cross to bear,
For Christ our Lord.

Christ for the world we sing;
The world to Christ we bring,
With joyful song;
The new-born souls, whose days,
Reclaimed from error's ways,
Inspired with hope and praise,
To Christ belong.

By HORACE B. POWELL

That was the slogan which, inscribed in large, ever-green letters over the stage at a state Young Men's Christian Association convention in his home city, greeted Samuel Wolcott, Cleveland pastor, as he entered the convention hall one February night in 1893.

The convention program that night must have been impressive and inspiring, but it was the theme above the rostrum that Wolcott remembered as he bade farewell to his friends and started homeward. Walking alone through the streets, he kept thinking of the challenging motto and decided that it would make a good missionary hymn theme. He began to write as he walked. One stanza after another took form and, by the time he reached his residence, he had completed all four verses just as they are sung today.

It was natural for Wolcott to be fascinated by the missionary theme which inspired his first hymn for years earlier as a young man, he had served on the foreign mission field in Syria. Ill health compelled him to return to the United States and he served several Congregational pastorates in New England and the Middle West before going to Cleveland.

Kitchen Efficiency

A young fox cannot outsmart an old one; let him try, and he usually ends up chawing neck meat and tail feathers.

This is an analogy that is liable to get me in trouble, because Mrs. F. has no resemblance whatever to a fox, and her years are not what you might call venerable. Just the same, the ways of foxes and women with their young are equally inscrutable.

The tug of wits at our house has been a long-range contest in perseverance between Mrs. F. and our daughter, Merrilee, and the battleground was the kitchen cupboard.

As for myself, I have observed the strictest neutrality, which is the only safe thing for a man to do when his wife and teen-age daughter discover disagreement between themselves.

It all started with dishwashing, which is another reason I carefully maintained the status of an on-looker. When it comes to dishwashing, I firmly hold that it is far better to be an onlooker than to risk becoming a participant. I said nothing when Merrilee became critical of her mother's system of dish storage.

"Mother, why can't you put things where they belong?" demanded Merrilee, whose task on that occasion was wiping the dishes and putting them away on the shelves. "The bowls are where the plates ought to be, and the saucers are all over the shelves! How can I put things away?"

Between rearrangements, Mrs. F. managed to shuffle plates, soup bowls and everything else back to a normal confusion. Occasionally she protested.

The life a mixing bowls, she pointed out once, should not be placed on the third shelf up, because it was too hard to get them down without a stepladder, and there was always the danger of dropping them on my head when I was in the way in the kitchen. "Or worse yet," she added, "I might drop them on one of the dogs. They could be hurt."

It began to look like endurance alone would determine the winner of the cupboard feud. Then the end came suddenly and, for me, unexpectedly. Last night Mrs. F. led me to the kitchen, threw open the cupboard doors and said, "Look what your daughter has done!"

There, row upon neat row, hand-printed and taped to the edges of the shelves, were labels. There were labels for cups, saucers, plates, soup bowls, glasses, mixing bowls, salad plates — all the vast number of utensils which somehow seem necessary to women. Each label had an arrow pointing to the designated storage spot. The arrangement was precise, logical and efficient.

"She put them up while I was out shopping," Mrs. F. said, "and now she insists there is no possible reason for me to misplace things."

"I guess," I chuckled, "that your daughter has put you in your place!"

Mrs. F. looked at me pityingly. She said, "That's the way I always kept the shelves until Merrilee began to help me in the kitchen. Only she never would have liked the system if she hadn't figured it out herself. So now we'll both be happy."

Limburger

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The April 30, 1956, issue of The Wall Street Journal contains this very short paragraph:

"These transactions between the agricultural Department and 109 firms may be the latest target of governmental prosecutors. The Justice Department reportedly is taking quick legal steps to recover more than $2 million in allegedly 'unauthorized' profits made by the sale and resale of the commodity to Uncle Sam."

This cheese deal took place a while ago when Ike's secretary of agriculture (Mr. Benson, in case you've forgotten) made the transaction which resulted in the above mentioned profits for cheese dealers, without even requiring the cheese to be moved from storage. It was a paper transaction, for the most part, but the profits were real.

The Ike administration apparently is afraid of this one and is going to try to recover the money and appear virtuous. Two million dollars involved—and the "mess in Washington" was stirred up over a few iceboxes and a milk coat or so. What pikers the Democrats were!

But this isn't the only instance where one branch of Ike's sanctimonious government gives something away and another branch tries to get it back. Look at the Justice Department's suit against the state of Louisiana. Ike said Louisiana could claim the oil lands out nine miles. His Justice Department is now suing to establish a three-mile limit — the original boundary for offshore oil. First we give it away — then we sue to get it back.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I do not know when I have read so admirable an editorial as that with respect to eulogizing Alben Barkley in the Wednesday morning Star. It is a rare accomplishment to so well word the idealism and attainments of such a fine American as he was. Personally I was gratified to read your editorial of the late senator.

We Hear That

Mrs. Henry Menke has returned home after spending two months at Washington, D. C., where she visited her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Menke, and their daughter, Betsy, and at Oak Ridge, Tenn., where she was the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Quincy.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

This is Saturday—and our morning to visit with Park Manor residents who, we discovered, were busy as ever with this, that and a dozen other things.

Among the activities for the current week-end was the dinner dance for members of the 307th Bomb Wing which was held Friday evening at Italian Village.

And since we seem to be on the Friday calendar we'll tell you that Mrs. H. W. Hays was a hostess on Friday morning when she entertained a group of her neighbors at an informal coffee at her home.

Thursday, it would seem, was just about as popular as Friday in the Park Manor area—Thursday was a wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. David Chacey who celebrated the occasion by dining out with a group of friends.

Another of the Thursday events was the bridge foursome meeting at the home of Mrs. William Bifford—This is the group, you may remember, in which two experienced bridge players are teaching two inexperienced bridge players the fine points of the game—and we wonder how the pupils are progressing.

Speaking of bridge groups—Mrs. Howard Miller was hostess to the members of her bridge club on Wednesday evening when she entertained at a dessert supper at her home—the evening, naturally, was devoted to bridge.

We hear that a group has planned a potluck supper for this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Barbour—and

FOR the past two days we have tried to crowd in a word or two about homecomers—and didn't quite make it—So, aiming to make it on the third try we're beginning the day's social saga with news of those who have returned from here and there—

The Faulkners—Mr. and Mrs. E. J.—are back in town again after a few days whirl in Ohio and Indiana where Mr. Faulkner attended insurance meetings.

AND home again from a holiday in Las Vegas are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guenzel who returned home on Wednesday evening.

HAD some interesting news from San Diego, Calif., this morning—It told us that Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ragen Jr. (Helen Abel) will be in Lincoln next Tuesday and will spend a week here before returning to their home in San Diego.

Mr. Ragen's mother, Mrs. Harry Ragen, is California's 1956

State Mother and we're sure many Lincoln people will be particularly interested in the fact that the California state chairman of the American Mothers Committee is Mrs. Ralph S. Russell who is the former Ruth Carpenter of Lincoln.

Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Ragen, and Mr. and Mrs. Ragen, Jr., accompanied by Dr. Frank Ragen and Miss Alice Ragen, are in New York City now, where the Mother of the Year and all State Mothers are being honored at a round of festivities. In New York City the group from California were met by Mrs. George P. Abel and her daughter, Miss Alice Abel, and also by Ralph S. Russell, Jr., who now is a resident of New York City.

This week-end the Ragens, Mr. and Mrs. J. J., Mrs. Abel, Miss Alice Abel and Mrs. Russell will go to Washington, D. C., where Mr. Ragen will be sworn in before the Supreme Court of the United States. Mrs.

Russell plans to spend some time with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Rankin, formerly of Lincoln—and Mrs. Abel, her daughters and son-in-law will return to Lincoln.

Others honored included: ten-year pins, Mrs. Henry Strickland, Miss Alveta Strickland, Miss June Finney, Mrs. Harold Whitmus and Mrs. Ben Johnson; five-year pins, Mrs. Earl Ludlam, Mrs. Wendell Groth, Mrs. Donald Rager, Mrs. Gilbert Caughran, Mrs. Richard Jones, Mrs. L. Horton, Mrs. L. E. Bostic, Mrs. Victor Heckman, Mrs.

W. W. Woodward and Mrs. Clair Poulson.

Mrs. Strickland and her daughter, a freshman at the University of Nebraska, began their Girl Scout service at Tacoma, Wash. Another member of the family, Miss Harriet Strickland, is one of six Lincoln girls chosen to attend the Girl Scout All-States Encampment at Cody, Wyo., this summer.

Artists Guild To Hold Party

Members of the Lincoln Artists Guild will meet for a covered-dish dinner on Monday evening at the Liebers' party house. Reservations for the 6:30 o'clock dinner may be made with Mrs. Foster Cress, and anyone needing transportation is asked to call Mrs. Richard Taussig.

We Hear That

Mrs. Henry Menke has returned home after spending two months at Washington, D. C., where she visited her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Menke, and their daughter, Betsy, and at Oak Ridge, Tenn., where she was the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Quincy.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

This is Saturday—and our morning to visit with Park Manor residents who, we discovered, were busy as ever with this, that and a dozen other things.

Among the activities for the current week-end was the dinner dance for members of the 307th Bomb Wing which was held Friday evening at Italian Village.

And since we seem to be on the Friday calendar we'll tell you that Mrs. H. W. Hays was a hostess on Friday morning when she entertained a group of her neighbors at an informal coffee at her home.

Thursday, it would seem, was just about as popular as Friday in the Park Manor area—Thursday was a wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. David Chacey who celebrated the occasion by dining out with a group of friends.

Another of the Thursday events was the bridge foursome meeting at the home of Mrs. William Bifford—This is the group, you may remember, in which two experienced bridge players are teaching two inexperienced bridge players the fine points of the game—and we wonder how the pupils are progressing.

Speaking of bridge groups—Mrs. Howard Miller was hostess to the members of her bridge club on Wednesday evening when she entertained at a dessert supper at her home—the evening, naturally, was devoted to bridge.

We hear that a group has planned a potluck supper for this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Barbour—and

FOR the past two days we have tried to crowd in a word or two about homecomers—and didn't quite make it—So, aiming to make it on the third try we're beginning the day's social saga with news of those who have returned from here and there—

The Faulkners—Mr. and Mrs. E. J.—are back in town again after a few days whirl in Ohio and Indiana where Mr. Faulkner attended insurance meetings.

AND home again from a holiday in Las Vegas are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guenzel who returned home on Wednesday evening.

HAD some interesting news from San Diego, Calif., this morning—It told us that Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ragen Jr. (Helen Abel) will be in Lincoln next Tuesday and will spend a week here before returning to their home in San Diego.

Mr. Ragen's mother, Mrs. Harry Ragen, is California's 1956

State Mother and we're sure many Lincoln people will be particularly interested in the fact that the California state chairman of the American Mothers Committee is Mrs. Ralph S. Russell who is the former Ruth Carpenter of Lincoln.

Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Ragen, and Mr. and Mrs. Ragen, Jr., accompanied by Dr. Frank Ragen and Miss Alice Ragen, are in New York City now, where the Mother of the Year and all State Mothers are being honored at a round of festivities. In New York City the group from California were met by Mrs. George P. Abel and her daughter, Miss Alice Abel, and also by Ralph S. Russell, Jr., who now is a resident of New York City.

This week-end the Ragens, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Abel, Miss Alice Abel and Mrs. Russell will go to Washington, D. C., where Mr. Ragen will be sworn in before the Supreme Court of the United States. Mrs.

Russell plans to spend some time with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Rankin, formerly of Lincoln—and Mrs. Abel, her daughters and son-in-law will return to Lincoln.

City Council May Form Auditorium Management Board Soon

By BILL DOBLER

The City Council may establish during the coming week a management board for operation of the new Pershing Memorial Auditorium.

Lincoln Milkshed Improves Quality Rating By 5 Per Cent

Lincoln's milkshed improved its quality rating by five per cent over the past rating year, according to a U. S. Public Health survey.

C. W. Fahrenbach, survey officer for Nebraska, gave the local milkshed a sanitation rating of 87 per cent.

Les Sanger, city-county health department sanitation director, said the local department has stepped only in the enforcement category since 1954 when the last survey was made.

The sanitarian said emphasis on brucellosis control likely had lessened the inspection rate of bovine tuberculosis.

The Fahrenbach report recommended:

Eliminating the present practice by some local dairies of keeping other than Grade A milk stored in the same plant with Grade A fluid.

This confusion results from lack of preciseness in the city ordinance.

Werning Takes New Lutheran Office Here

The Rev. Waldo J. Werning of St. Louis, Mo., has accepted the newly created post of executive secretary of stewardship and missions with the Southern Nebraska District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Tentative plans call for establishment of his office in Lincoln.

The Rev. Mr. Werning has been assistant stewardship counselor with the department of stewardship, missionary education and promotion of the synod.

He will be the first to hold the new position created by the Southern Nebraska District last August.

Chinese Freed

NEW YORK — A wealthy Chinatown businessman was released in $5,000 bail on charges of illegally bringing Chinese into this country.

Sing Kee, 57, surrendered voluntarily.

He told newsmen "I feel I am innocent of these charges and the day will come when I will vindicate myself."

Reported to be a millionaire, Sing is accused in the case of five Chinese who fraudulently claimed U. S. citizenship by representing themselves as children of American Chinese.

The group, according to Mayor Clark Jeary, would be composed of from seven to nine members. It would be their job, he said, to handle the leasing of the auditorium and concessions.

Jeary also predicted completion of the auditorium by Jan. 1, 1957. It is important that leasing details, particularly the price, be established soon, Jeary said, as inquiries are already being made in regards to possible bookings.

Bids Due June 5

Bids on auditorium seats and stage equipment are to be received by the city June 5. At this time, Jeary said, the city is in a position to advise the contractor, Olson Construction Co., has an application on file with the city for a nine-month extension of the completion date.

Ask Opening Date

Jeary said, however, "We have made inquiry as to when we might expect to open the auditorium."

Some farmers should deliver their milk at a cooler temperature than the 50 degrees Fahrenheit as required by ordinance.

Improvement is needed in housing areas on the farms, mainly where the cows are kept and fed overnight before being moved to dairy barns.

The survey included 24 farms as random samples among the 947 milk producers registered with the Health Department.

(This confusion results from lack of preciseness in the city ordinance, according to Sanger.)

Some farmers should deliver their milk at a cooler temperature than the 50 degrees Fahrenheit as required by ordinance.

Improvement is needed in housing areas on the farms, mainly where the cows are kept and fed overnight before being moved to dairy barns.

The survey included 24 farms as random samples among the 935 milk producers registered with the Health Department.

Chinese Freed

NEW YORK (AP) — A wealthy Chinatown businessman was released in $5,000 bail on charges of illegally bringing Chinese into this country. Sing Kee, 57, surrendered voluntarily.

He told newsmen: "I feel I am innocent of these charges and the day will come when I will vindicate myself."

Reputed to be a millionaire, Sing is accused in the case of five Chinese who fraudulently claimed U.S. citizenship by representing themselves as children of American Chinese.

of the auditorium by Jan. 1, 1957. It is important that leasing details, particularly the price, be established soon, Jeary said, as inquiries are already being made in regards to possible bookings.

Bids Due June 5

Bids on auditorium seats and stage equipment are to be received by the city June 5. At this time, Jeary said the city's auditorium advisor, Benjamin C. Moore of Spokane, Wash., will be asked to come to Lincoln to furnish advice on contract awards.

At the same time, he said, Moore could visit with the management board on details of operation of the building.

Jeary also took this opportunity to express the thought that completion of the auditorium may come much sooner than expected.

The contract completion date for the auditorium is October, 1956. However, the contractor, Olson Construction Co., has an application on file with the city for a nine-month extension of the completion date.

Ask Opening Date

Jeary said, however, "We have made inquiry as to when we might expect to open the auditorium.

Injury Car Driver Joins Accident Victim In Hospital

OMAHA (AP) — Police arrested Clyde H. Coatney, 27, Omaha, as driver of a car that struck blind Gedeon Hamel, 76, Omaha, and sent him to County Hospital with a broken leg and head injuries.

Friday Coatney joined Hamel in the hospital. Traffic Capt. John Barnes said Coatney suffered a fractured skull when he fell in his cell.

"He told me he fell from a bunk," the captain said.

Naturally, no one can or will give us an approximate date.

"However, from the progress that has and is being made I have hopes that we might possible celebrate New Year Day, 1957 in the new auditorium."

If correct, Jeary's timetable would mean only a three-month extension of the contract and six months cut off the extension requested by Olson.

The nine-month extension was requested due to delays in delivery of steel for the job plus the accidental flooding of the basement of the building last August.

Julius Humann, guidance director of the Lincoln Public Schools, has reported that 1,457 pre-school children have registered for school entrance in the fall.

"We will have over 2,000," Humann said, "so this represents about 70 per cent."

A census will be taken in June to determine the exact number of pre-school children, according to Humann.

Methodist Women Get Full Rights

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
MINNEAPOLIS — Women Friday were granted full clerical rights in the Methodist Church.

After a long, sometimes tumultuous session, the Church's law-making general conference went all the way in placing women on an equal ecclesiastical level with men.

"It puts them on the same basis," said the Rev. Dr. Zach T. Johnson, a Wilmore, Ky., college president, who led the successful move.

In one form or another, it had encountered vigorous opposition—including that of some women—during the earlier phases of the drawn-out discussion.

"I feel we already have far more rights than men ever had," said Mrs. Henry D. Ebner, Atlantic City, N.J.

She argued the change should be turned down "for the sake of the women of our Church."

But in the final tally, the measure went through easily despite earlier close votes on the matter.

The action reverses the Church's action in 1928 that placed sharp restrictions on ordained women.

There are about 450 women in the church serving as "lay supply pastors." This meant in effect that they got posts only when male preachers weren't available for them.

A committee on the subject, headed by the Rev. James A. Chubb, of Grand Island, Neb., recommended that complete clergy status be given to women—but only to "unmarried women and widows."

Earlier, the conference approved a pay increase for its bishops from $10,000 to $12,500 annually.

In addition, the residential allowance for bishops was upped from $2,400 to $3,000 a year, their allowance for office expenses was increased from $4,000 to $5,000 a year, and the grants to bishops' widows was raised from $2,400 to $2,750 a year.

Moscow Junks Two Laws Which Led To Purges

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union has repealed two laws of Joseph Stalin that helped secret police get treason and sabotage confessions for the purge trials of the 1930s.

The bulletin of the Supreme Soviet Parliament revealed this in an issue that came into the hands of Western correspondents Friday.

It published a decree of the Soviet's Presidium that nullified the two laws and forbade the police to use "special procedures" in investigating persons accused under the articles of the criminal code on treason, terrorism and damage of state property by sabotage.

Both laws were promulgated by Stalin, one on Dec. 1, 1934, and the other on Sept. 14, 1937. They permitted the police to by-pass what is now declared to be normal Socialist legal procedure to obtain concessions.

The decree, dated April 19, took up only two paragraphs in the bulletin. It said that henceforth "regular procedures will be used in conformance with the criminal code" in dealing with the crimes mentioned.

Little Firm 'Failures' Increasing

44 Per Cent Rise Cited By Demo

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla. — Sen. Estes Kefauver said today small business failures have increased 44 per cent since 1942 when the Eisenhower administration took office.

He said a big business Cabinet doing business in the big business was partly responsible for this condition.

Kefauver said he was not crying but I am crying before it is too late.

He said "Look at what's happened to the General Motors stock price. It's down 40 per cent. General Electric is down 30 per cent. The Dow Jones is up 16 per cent."

But the farmers' incomes are down 9 per cent.

This is an administration geared to big business. While meat packers' profits are up, hog and beef prices are down.

Upward — While profits of the big corporations soar, small business failures are on the upswing. Last year there were 10,909 failures — an increase of 44 per cent over 1942.

Kefauver said he has "nothing against big business as such but I want to see this remain what has been in the past — an economy based on many competing businesses, and with a fair distribution of prosperity between business, wage earners and farmers. We are a codependent economy and unless all prosper sooner or later all will suffer."

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. YORK — Seward rolled in the playoffs to win the Class B district track championship from York here Friday on a muddy track.

Seward paced by sprinter Tom Evans, scored 45½ points. York was 42, behind. Alexandria was a handy winner in the Class D meet, outscoring runnerup Shelby 53½-23.

Rain Friday morning turned the already-damp York track into a sticky mess. The go and a biting wind made records out of the question.

One outstanding performance went into the books. Mel Harmon of Hebron, on his fourth throw of the discus, sailed the platter 145-8½.

Cecil Chamberlain of Hebron reached 140-6 on his last try to give Hebron the top two spots ahead of Tony Davis of David City. Davis is the state leader in the discus with a 134-6 throw but he hit only 139-5½ Friday.

Evans, blond Seward speedster, won the 100 and 220 and anchored the winning 880-yard relay team. Seward's win in the 880 relay put the Bluejays ahead of York, and York was unable to overtake Seward in the mile relay.

Evans, Gary Epp of York and Harmon were double winners. Harmon slammed the weight events and Epp won the broad jump and pole vault.

In a heralded 880 duel, Phil Dean of Fullerton surprised David City's Jerry Hoff.

Alexandria dominated the Class D field thought its crack pole vaulter, Bob Baruth, failed to qualify. Alexandria won three individual events and the mile relay.

There were no double winners in Class D. Charles Hollendiek of Creston slammed the sprints and Rising City's Wilch won the broad jump and pole vault.

Cardinals Jar Dodgers, 10-3

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals poured across seven runs when the Brooklyn Dodgers defense fell apart in the sixth inning and went on to a 10-3 victory Friday night. Ellis Kinder, the 41-year-old Cardinal relief artist, went to the rescue with two on and none out in the seventh and pitched one-hit ball the rest of the way to save the victory for starter Willard Schmidt.

The Cardinals battled around in the big sixth inning with a collapsing Dodger defense permitted five unearned and two earned runs to pour across. The Brooks were charged with two errors, a wild pitch and a balk in the inning, which gave the Cards an 8-1 lead.

Stan Musial started it with a single, advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Wally Moon's single after Rip Repulski walked.

Peewee Reese made a wild throw on Jackie Brandt's grounder, permitting Repulski to score.

Adlai Charges: V.P. Nixon 'Campaign Poisoner'

Demo Says GOP
Backfire Ahead

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Adlai Stevenson Friday termed Vice President Richard Nixon "a poisoner of campaigns" and said "I do not feel Mr. Nixon enjoys the admiration and confidence of the country as he enjoys the admiration and confidence of the President."

Stevenson predicted that a Nixon-led campaign would backfire on the Republican's new vice president.

"That distasteful technique has worked three times," said the candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. "It did not work in 1954 and it will not work in 1956."

No Comment

Stevenson declined comment at a news conference on the appearance of Murray Chotiner, Nixon's 1952 campaign manager, before a Senate committee investigating military uniform deals. He then read a statement on Nixon saying:

Mr. Nixon has shown in my judgment, manifest irresponsibility. He has poisoned four successive election campaigns. He talks little about the issues. Instead he slanders and impugns the motive even the loyalty of those who oppose him and his party.

"That distasteful technique has worked three times. It did not work in 1954 and it will not work in 1956."

Mr. Nixon further demonstrated this irresponsibility on April 16, 1954, when he told the American Society of Newspaper Editors that American troops should be sent to Indochina if needed. With in a few days he was saying the opposite. To people around the world he is the vice president and No. 2 spokesman of America and such talk and contradiction does us incalculable harm.

School Problem

"The most recent illustration of his irresponsibility came just recently when he seriously aggravated the school desegregation problem by claiming the Supreme Court decision as a Republican triumph—which was a grievous affront not only to the nation and to the Supreme Court, but to another Californian for whom I share your very great respect—Chief Justice Earl Warren."

Stevenson said the campaigns he referred to were Nixon's 1948 congressional race, his Senate victory in 1950, the 1952 presidential campaign and the 1954 congressional races. The Democrats carried Congress in 1954.

'Even Chance'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) winding up a tour of north Florida, said he has "an even chance" to win the state's 28 Democratic National Convention votes against Adlai Stevenson.

The Tennessee senator made a brief talk in Tallahassee shook hands with perhaps a thousand persons and then flew to Jacksonville where he was to make a few appearances before leaving the state.

Kefauver said he did not know whether he could win in the area where he appeared this week. But he added "I feel that I have made gains and that I have an even chance throughout the state."

V.P. Nixon 'Campaign Poisoner'

Demo Says GOP Backfire Ahead

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Adlai Stevenson Friday termed Vice President Richard Nixon "a poisoner of campaigns" and said: "I do not feel Mr. Nixon enjoys the admiration and confidence of the country as he enjoys the admiration and confidence of the President."

Stevenson predicted that a Nixon-led campaign would backfire on the Republicans this year. "That distasteful technique has worked three times," said the candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. "It did not work in 1954 and it will not work in 1956."

No Comment Stevenson declined comment at a news conference on the appearance of Murray Chotiner, Nixon's 1952 campaign manager, before a Senate committee investigating military uniform deals. He then read a statement on Nixon, saying:

Mr. Nixon has shown, in my judgment, manifest irresponsibility. He has poisoned four successive election campaigns. He talks little about the issues. Instead he slanders and impugns the motive, even the loyalty, of those who oppose him and his party.

"That distasteful technique has worked three times. It did not work in 1954 and it will not work in 1956."

"Mr. Nixon further demonstrated this irresponsibility on April 16, 1954, when he told the American Society of Newspaper Editors that American troops should be sent to Indochina if needed. Within a few days he was saying the opposite. To people around the world he is the vice president and No. 2 spokesman of America and such talk and contradiction does us incalculable harm."

School Problem "The most recent illustration of his irresponsibility came just recently when he seriously aggravated the school desegregation problem by claiming the Supreme Court decision as a Republican triumph—which was a grievous affront not only to the nation and to the Supreme Court, but to another Californian for whom I share your very great respect—Chief Justice Earl Warren."

Stevenson said the campaigns he referred to were Nixon's 1948 congressional race, his Senate victory in 1950, the 1952 presidential campaign and the 1954 congressional races. The Democrats carried Congress in 1954.

'Even Chance' TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) winding up a tour of north Florida, said he has "an even chance" to win the state's 28 Democratic National Convention votes against Adlai Stevenson.

The Tennessee senator made a brief talk in Tallahassee, shook hands with perhaps a thousand persons and then flew to Jacksonville where he was to make a few appearances before leaving the state.

Kefauver said he did not know whether he could win in the area where he appeared this week. But he added "I feel that I have made gains and that I have an even chance throughout the state."

Stock Mart Tries, But Misses Record

NEW YORK—The stock market made a valiant attempt to establish a new record high Friday, but it faltered near the close and manager only a modest net gain on the day.

Aircraft and oils spearheaded the try for another record, with ample help from most major divisions and from quite a number of high priced individual issues.

Price profit-taking before the weekend, however, was too much for the leaders and they turned down below their best, with the remainder of the market easing in concert.

The best prices came after President Eisenhower at his press conference said his administration would make plenty of money available to finance expansion and he was sure the Federal Reserve Board would do the same thing.

The members of the Eisenhower cabinet have been critical of the Federal Reserve policy of tightening the reins on money to reduce the discount rate.

The action was taken to make it more expensive to borrow money and thus choke off spending that might add to the fires of inflation.

The Associated Press average of 50 stocks was up 40 cents at $54.30, only 20 cents under the record high reached April 6 at the peak of a sharp advance that started in mid-February.

Stocks of the defense industry were higher on volume of 1,340,000 shares, compared with 1,050,000 shares Thursday.

The bond market was mixed while U.S. Government bonds were higher.

OMAHA—Light receipts influenced a strong to 25 cents higher hog market Friday. Fat cattle supplies were scarce and a few cows brought steady prices. A small run of fat lambs sold steady.

Benson Hopes New Farm Bill Can Be 'Cleaned Up' In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Friday he hopes the farm bill passed by the House Thursday "can be cleaned up and made workable in the Senate."

Benson conceded the legislation is "much improved" over that which President Eisenhower vetoed April 16.

But he told newsmen it has two features objectionable to the administration — mandatory price supports for live stock feed grains and the addition of grazing lands to the soil bank program.

The secretary declined to predict whether the bill would be headed for another veto if the objectionable provisions stayed in it.

As passed by the House and sent to the Senate Thursday, the bill gives Eisenhower the $1,200,000,000 soil bank program he asked but no authority to make advance payments this year. Farmers could still receive benefits in 1956 however, if they took land out of production promptly.

Eisenhower was asked at his news conference Friday whether he could accept the feed grain support provisions of the House bill. He replied that the provisions struck him as being difficult to administer and for that reason they were bad.

He said he understands that with the added responsibility of supporting feed grains the secretary of agriculture has to put 80 million new acres under control and supervision. He has to measure fields and he has to establish a bureaucracy much bigger than the very large one he already has.

But the President did not reject the provisions outright.

"Now, as to what exact language I could live with," he told the reporters, "I would have to see it after it gets to me."

Below Level

The bill pegs government support for feed grains—rye, oats, barley and grain sorghums—at five percentage points below the parity support level set for commercial corn.

Benson estimated it would bring

Grange Officials Discuss Farm Problems

Ag Question 'Misunderstood' By Most—Grange Official

By DEL HARDING
Star Staff Writer

FRIEND, Neb. — A National Grange official Friday night said today's agricultural situation is being "misunderstood" by most persons, including farmers themselves.

Speaking before more than 250 persons at dedication ceremonies for Friend's new $26,000 Grange Hall, C. Jerome Davis declared, "We've allowed two words — subsidization and surplus — to throw us off the track from solving the dilemma we are in."

Davis, from Ramsey, Ind., is the field assistant to the national master of the Grange.

Davis said it isn't subsidization but "protection" of the same type other segments of the economy have that farmers need. He said the Grange favors 100 per cent of parity supports for farm products that are for human consumption in the United States.

At the present time, he contended, "surplus" simply means products that haven't been consumed. Davis proposed a "reasonable reserve" be set aside for use in war or in time of drought. A survey, he said, should be made to determine what constitutes a "reasonable reserve."

"If we should get into another war, God forbid, it wouldn't be six months before farmers would be asked to increase production," he said.

Davis said we must realize, however, that it is "impossible" for us to consume all we produce. "We must seek to increase exports and industrial uses for agricultural products," he said.

Dr. Clyde Filley of Lincoln, master of the Nebraska State Grange, served as dedicating officer. Murval Thompson, master of Friend Grange 390, presided.

Meet Star Carrier Larry Buss

Larry Buss has had the business experience of a number of enterprisers; boat building, farming, live stock, and etc. His one big business, a Lincoln Star paper route in Dewitt, has supplied a nice steady income that has enabled him to branch out with his other activities. For the past few months, his spare time has been taken up with the care of a litter of pigs. The purchase of this pig and all of the feed has come from the profits of his paper route.

Larry has had a close guiding hand from both his parents Mr. and Mrs. William Buss to help him in all of his work. Last summer, he and his dad built an all metal boat so he could enjoy his fishing more. Irrigation was needed to teach him the better methods of farming so he helped drill a well near their yard. This was done by hand and now he is helping build a well digging rig.

A steady growth of his paper route for the past year and a half has been the result of a careful study of his route, delivering service, and by using a system of checking with each home in his area at regular intervals.

Larry's parents believe that there is nothing finer than a paper route to give a boy the early experience he needs to carry on his life's work in later years.

NELSEN TO SEEK GOVERNORSHIP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ancher Nelsen Friday tendered his resignation to President Eisenhower as Rural Electrification administrator to seek the Republican nomination for governor of Minnesota.

Disclosing this, Agriculture Department sources said formal announcement of the resignation will be made by Nelsen at a Second District Republican convention at Mankato.

Nelsen has been head of the Rural Electrification Administration since April 29, 1953. He succeeded former Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard.

Nelsen had resigned as lieutenant governor of Minnesota to take the post. He is the operator of a 280-acre farm near Hutchinson, Minn.

D. W. Meyer, president of the Iowa Rural Electric Co-operative Assn., was mentioned prominently as a possible successor to Nelsen.

The bill pegs government supports for feed grains—rye, oats, barley and grain sorghums—at five percentage points below the parity support level set for commercial corn.

Benson estimated it would bring 100 million more acres under federal crop control. He argued it would also distort price relationships between feed, livestock and livestock products.

As for adding grazing lands to the soil bank program, he said such a move would offer livestock raisers government benefits for limiting their grazing land. It would work counter to the government's wool program, under which incentives are paid for increasing wool production, he argued.
